

Privacy Policy

Table of contents

1.	Policy Statement.....	3
2.	What kinds of personal information does NMH collect?.....	3
3.	How NMH collects personal information?	3
4.	Cookies & other technologies	4
5.	How does NMH hold personal information?	4
6.	What happens if a member does not provide NMH with their personal information?	5
7.	Purposes for which NMH collects, holds, uses and discloses personal information	5
8.	Disclosure of personal information	6
9.	How is personal information managed when a member receives services from Teachers Healthcare Services?	7
10.	Dealing with NMH anonymously or using a pseudonym	8
11.	Direct marketing.....	8
12.	Access to and correction of personal information.....	8
13.	Making a complaint.....	9
14.	Who this Privacy Policy does not apply to	10
15.	Changes to this Privacy Policy	10

1. Policy Statement

Nurses & Midwives Health Pty Limited ABN 70 611 479 237 (NMH) cares deeply about its members. That means NMH cares about keeping the information that members give us confidential and private. NMH is strongly committed to this.

NMH is guided by the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) (the Privacy Act) and manages all the personal information of members in line with Australia's strict privacy laws.

This Privacy Policy explains what members need to know – so it's really important to read it and understand it all. If there are any questions after reading it, get in touch – NMH will be happy to answer enquiries.

2. What kinds of personal information does NMH collect?

Personal information includes any information about or relating to a person where the person is, or can be, identified. Sensitive information is a special subset of personal information which includes health information and information relating to relevant union membership

In this Privacy Policy, any references to 'personal information' includes 'sensitive information'.

NMH collects personal information to provide insurance cover and healthcare services. This may include:

- (a) name, date of birth, family members, contact details, claims history, income tier, bank account details and where relevant, payroll numbers;
- (b) details of relevant union membership including union membership number and status of membership – to assess whether a member is eligible for membership with NMH;
- (c) details related to services provided such as a member's claims history, including a member's medical procedure and hospital attendances, provision of ancillary health services and medical history and other health or lifestyle information; or
- (d) Government-issued identifiers such as a member's Medicare number which is required for reporting purposes.

NMH also collects information such as the IP address, browser type and language, Internet Service Provider, referring and exit pages, operating system, data/time stamp and clickstream data based on interactions with NMH's website and app.

3. How NMH collects personal information?

NMH collects personal information directly from the person if the person:

- provides it to NMH directly by visiting a Teachers Health Centre or member counter, by phone, or in writing such as by completing NMH forms;
- uses NMH products and services;
- visits the website at nmhealth.com.au or any other website operated by, or on behalf of, NMH; or
- uses the online or mobile member services.

NMH also collects personal information when its business development officers visit hospital facilities and industry events, from aggregators, business partners or from member referrals.

In some situations, NMH collects personal information from third-parties such as:

- As NMH has outsourced the management and operations of the Nurses & Midwives Health Fund to Teachers Federation Health Limited (TH), NMH may receive members personal information from TH;
- From NMH partner organisations, including relevant trade unions, employer organisations and aggregators;
- from hospitals, Medicare, medical and ancillary providers, financial institutions and health care service providers, where a member has made a claim or intends to make a claim;
- from a new member's previous health fund, if the member transfers health insurance to NMH; and
- from selected tracking technologies and remarketing services.

NMH uses selected service providers including Google Analytics to collect personal information such as the IP address based on interactions with NMH's website and app, use of NMH's online services such as the quote and comparison tools and clicking on NMH advertisements.

4. Cookies & other technologies

NMH uses tracking technologies and remarketing services on the NMH website and app such as cookies, pixel tags and other technologies to:

- better understand user behaviour, by telling NMH which parts of NMH's website people have visited and improve the online experience for visitors to NMH's website; and
- remember personal information when an individual uses NMH's website, online and mobile services and applications; and
- customise the user experience based on an individual's previous usage of the NMH website; and
- display personalised content and advertising (targeted advertising and online behavioural advertising); and
- Send marketing materials that NMH thinks will be of interest to the individual.

By using the NMH website, online services and interactive applications, you agree to the collection and use of your information as described in Google's Privacy Policy. NMH does not transfer personal information to Google Analytics or other third-party vendors.

You can opt out of Google Analytics by disabling cookies in your web browser or using the opt-out service provided by Google. Certain features of the NMH website will not be available to an individual once cookies are disabled.

5. How does NMH hold personal information?

Personal information collected by NMH is generally entered into and held in a centralised digital secure repository. TH manages NMH's information pursuant to a Management and Services Agreement (MSA) on behalf of NMH.

NMH will take reasonable steps to protect all personal information it holds from misuse, interference and loss and unauthorised access, modification or disclosure, including a data breach response plan found in the Business Continuity Management Framework and Policy / Crisis Management Plan.

NMH will ensure that appropriate technical and organisational security measures, consistent with standard industry practice, are in place to attempt to safeguard the security and confidentiality of the personal information it collects. NMH does not guarantee that the website or the online and mobile member services are totally protected from hackers or misuse and it will not be responsible for any breach of security caused by third-parties. NMH does not use any form of encryption (encoding software) to protect information a member sends from their computer to NMH over the internet through the use of feedback, enquiry and appointment forms and emails. Encryption software is applied when using online or mobile member services and joining online.

NMH will take reasonable steps to destroy or permanently de-identify personal information, including any unsolicited personal information, if it is no longer needed for any purpose for which the personal information may be used or disclosed under this Privacy Policy.

6. What happens if a member does not provide NMH with their personal information?

A member does not have to provide their personal information to NMH. However, if they do not provide personal information which NMH requests from them, NMH will make them aware that it may affect NMH's service to them, including:

- NMH may not be able to provide insurance or administer the insurance policies;
- NMH may not be able to process, manage or pay out on an insurance claim;
- third-party service providers such as hospitals, doctors, optometrists, dentists and other allied service providers may not be able to provide the member with services;
- NMH may not be able to properly assess a member's health and lifestyle needs and consequently may not be able to provide healthy lifestyle or chronic disease programs; and
- members may not be able to access NMH online or mobile member services.

7. Purposes for which NMH collects, holds, uses and discloses personal information

NMH may collect, hold, use and disclose personal information for a number of purposes such as:

- to provide health insurance and related products and services;
- to confirm eligibility to become a member;
- to respond to eligibility checks from hospitals and other medical providers;
- to pay health insurance claims;
- to manage NMH's relationship with the member;
- to analyse personal information and determine which products or services may be of interest to members;
- for the purposes related to the reason the member gave the information;
- to manage risks and help identify and investigate illegal activity, such as fraud;
- to provide or arrange for associated services to be provided such as dental services, eye care services, allied services such as physiotherapy or travel insurance and other insurance or health related services;
- to assess a member's general health and wellbeing needs and to continue to meet those needs through a care coordination or disease management service;
- to provide NMH online and mobile member services;
- as may be required by law or as permitted under the Privacy Act; and
- NMH may conduct data analytics or disclose personal information to third-parties to conduct data analytics to gain insights into the membership base, develop its offerings and improve the members' experience. Disclosure of members' personal information will be subject to a confidentiality agreement between NMH and the third-party.

NMH develops programs and initiatives from time to time to assist members with day to day health and wellbeing issues such as diet and exercise, as well as assistance with illnesses suffered by members. Members may choose to sign up to such programs from time to time. Members are not obliged to join any such programs. If they do join any such programs, NMH may use personal information already collected from them so that they can get the most benefit from such programs. For instance, if the member has diabetes and chooses to join a program that assists with their diabetes treatment, NMH may use earlier personal information collected from them to advise them on their treatment program.

NMH may also use a member's contact details to send information about NMH or its products, services or programs. If a member does not wish NMH to send this information, then NMH should allow the member the opportunity to tell NMH when it collects the personal information. Refer to paragraph 11 of this policy for further details about opting out of NMH direct marketing.

8. Disclosure of personal information

NMH will not sell a member's personal information to any third-party. NMH will not disclose any personal information about a member, except:

- to TH under the MSA;
- to its related companies, joint venture and business partners such as dental or eye care providers, general insurance providers and providers of wellbeing, chronic disease programs or care coordination services;
- to its suppliers, third-party service providers or subcontractors (as necessary to enable them to help provide NMH's services and any member programs);
- to relevant unions to verify eligibility for membership
- to hospitals, healthcare providers, Medicare or other government agencies or financial institutions;
- entities established to help identify illegal activities and prevent fraud;
- where personal information has been successfully de-identified;
- as required by law or as permitted under the Privacy Act; or
- with a member's consent.

Some of the programs that a member may join may be administered by third-parties to provide the best service to the member. To ensure the efficient administration of such programs, NMH may need to disclose a member's personal information to these third-parties. Disclosure of members' personal information will be subject to a confidentiality agreement between NMH and the third-party. NMH will endeavour to ensure that third-party program administrators will not disclose a member's personal information to any third-parties.

If a member joins programs through NMH which are administered by third-parties, the member may need to disclose personal information to these third-parties. The third-parties do not disclose this information to NMH without the member's consent. A member's disclosure of personal information directly to such third-parties would be subject to their privacy policies.

If the NMH membership policy covers the main policy holder as a main contributor and a partner or children, NMH will only contact the main policy holder regarding anyone else covered on the policy. NMH relies on the main policy holder having made all persons covered aware of the matters dealt with in this Privacy Policy and having obtained consent on these matters.

NMH may disclose personal information to service providers that are located outside of Australia. In these instances, NMH will conduct due diligence on the service providers' information security systems and incorporate contractual privacy clauses to protect members' personal information.

Where a member purchases insurance products through NMH's business partners, such as travel, general and life insurers, the member's relationship with the business partner is independent from NMH and the business partner's privacy policy applies

9. How is personal information managed when a member receives services from Teachers Healthcare Services?

This section applies only to health-related services provided to NMH members by Teachers Healthcare Services (THCS), a subsidiary of TH. THCS may provide such services to NMH's private health insurance members including telephonic services, care coordination services, chronic disease and health management programs and online health-related services.

THCS may collect and use personal information to provide these services to members including:

- to contact the member for management and follow up purposes;
- to manage, review, develop and improve health-related services and business and operational processes and systems;
- to resolve any legal and/or commercial complaints or issues; and
- to perform any of their other services or activities.

If a member uses health-related services, THCS may disclose personal information to NMH for it to pay benefits and to review, develop and improve the services provided by NMH and/or its related companies.

To perform the above services, THCS may disclose personal information to third-parties such as health service providers, persons authorised by or responsible for the member, and to other parties to whom they are authorised or required by law to disclose information including government agencies.

THCS may also use and disclose personal information:

- to assess from what other services a member may benefit and to facilitate the provision of such services;
- so it may have an integrated view of members and provide a better and personalised service; and
- to contact members (including by telephone call, text message or email) to its health-related services.

Participation in any programs offered by THCS is entirely voluntary and a member may withdraw their consent to the sharing of personal and sensitive information or to being contacted about health-related services by contacting NMH.

To request to stop receiving direct marketing communications from THCS or to opt out of the program, a member should contact info@nmhealth.com.au or call 1300 344 000. THCS will give effect to the request as soon as reasonably practicable and, in any case, within 30 days of the request being made to THCS.

Participation or non-participation in the program will not affect a member's claims from, or contributions to, NMH.

If a member requires access to their health-related service records, they may do so by contacting the Clinical Operations Manager directly on 1300 728 578 or by email on info@teachershealthcare.com.au.

10. Dealing with NMH anonymously or using a pseudonym

NMH permits a member to deal with NMH anonymously or by using a pseudonym. If the member chooses to do so, however, NMH will be limited in the products or services it can assist the member with.

As a general rule, NMH may allow an individual to contact NMH anonymously in some limited circumstances – for example to enquire generally about its goods and services, or to complete a retail transaction at a health centre by paying for goods in cash.

11. Direct marketing

NMH uses personal information that it holds about a member to identify services and products that may be of interest to them.

NMH may contact a member by email, text message, phone or by post to let them know about promotions or any new or existing products or services. NMH also uses internet-based marketing including targeted online advertising and online behavioural marketing.

NMH may disclose personal information to other related companies such as TH and THCS to tell members about its products or services.

A member may request not to receive direct marketing communications from NMH by contacting it at unsubscribe@nmhealth.com.au or calling 1300 344 000. NMH will give effect to the request as soon as reasonably practicable and, in any case, within 30 days of the request being made to NMH.

12. Access to and correction of personal information

NMH will take reasonable steps to ensure that all personal information it collects or uses is accurate, complete, up to date and stored in a secure environment and is accessed only by authorised personnel for permitted purposes.

If a member wishes to access or correct any personal information which NMH holds about a member, or requests its removal from NMH records, they should contact the NMH via post or email, in person at one of the member contact centres or over the phone with a member of the contact centre.

If a member requires access to their eye care records, eye test results or dental records, they may do so by contacting the eye care or dental care provider directly.

If a member requires access to their health-related service records managed by THCS, they may do so by contacting the Clinical Operations Manager on 1300 728 578 or by email on info@teachershealthcare.com.au (refer to section 9).

NMH will respond to a member's access request as soon as practicable and, in any case, within 30 days of the request being made to NMH. NMH will either respond by providing the member with the access or amendments they have requested, or by providing them with the reasons for refusing to do so.

If NMH refuse to amend a member's health information, the member may request that NMH attach to the health information a statement of the amendment sought, and in that case, NMH must take reasonable steps to do so.

There are some available exceptions to accessing personal information, which are:

- NMH reasonably believes that not giving access would pose a serious threat to the life, health or safety of any individual, or to public health or public safety;
- giving access would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of other individuals;
- the information relates to existing or anticipated legal proceedings between NMH and the individual, and would not be accessible by the process of discovery in those proceedings;
- giving access would reveal the intentions of NMH about negotiations with the individual in such a way as to prejudice those negotiations;
- giving access would be unlawful;
- denying access is required or authorised by or under an Australian law or a court/tribunal order;
- NMH has reason to suspect that unlawful activity, or misconduct of a serious nature, that relates to its functions or activities has been, is being or may be engaged in and giving access would be likely to prejudice the taking of appropriate action about the matter;
- giving access would be likely to prejudice one or more enforcement related activities conducted by, or on behalf of, an enforcement body; and
- giving access would reveal evaluative information generated within the entity in connection with a commercially sensitive decision-making process.

In some circumstances, NMH may charge a fee to cover administrative costs in respect of retrieving a member's personal information and providing it to them. NMH will inform the member if there are going to be any such costs involved in retrieving their personal information.

13. Making a complaint

NMH views complaints as an opportunity to maintain and enhance customer loyalty and approval and enhance its competitiveness by continuous review and improvement. NMH outsources customer complaints and disputes resolution to TH under the MSA.

If a member would like to make a complaint about a breach of privacy, NMH will make them aware that:

(a) Complaints can be made by contacting the NMH Privacy Officer at:

Email: privacyofficer@nmhealth.com.au

Address: NMH Privacy Officer
C/- Teachers Federation Health Limited
GPO Box 9812
SYDNEY NSW 2001
Phone: 1300 344 000

(b) The complaint should first be made in writing. NMH will respond as soon as reasonably practicable and, in any case, within 30 days. All complaints are handled under the NMH Customer Complaint Handling and Dispute Resolution Policy. A copy of this policy is available to members at nmhealth.com.au.

(c) In the event the complainant is not satisfied with NMH's response, they may take the complaint to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner (OAIC). The OAIC can be contacted on:

Phone: 1300 363 992

Email: enquiries@oaic.gov.au

GPO Box 5218

Sydney, NSW 2001

See also the OAIC website for further details: <https://www.oaic.gov.au/privacy/privacy-complaints/>

14. Who this Privacy Policy does not apply to

NMH will make members aware that this Privacy Policy does not apply:

- to corporate information (unless it is also about any identifiable person); or
- if a member accesses another website through a link from NMH. In this case the privacy policy of the owner of the other website (if any) will apply. NMH cannot and does not make any warranty or representation as to the practices of any linked websites in the handling of a member's personal information.

15. Changes to this Privacy Policy

The NMH Privacy Policy is reviewed at least annually to ensure it reflects NMH's ways of working and is aligned with privacy best practices. NMH will notify members of such changes by posting an updated version of this Privacy Policy on its website at www.nmhealth.com.au. Members continued use of this website constitutes their agreement to any changes to this Privacy Policy.